

Meet Willow

Willow was born at just 22 weeks into pregnancy, weighing in at 1 pound, 5 ounces. Doctors told Willow's parents she wouldn't survive.

She did. And she's thriving.

Nearly 2-years-old, her pediatrician has no concerns about disabilities or delays. She's feisty, strong-willed and loves eating Cheetos.

Willow was born in Ohio, which just became the 19th state to update their limits on abortion to the first five months of pregnancy (up to 20 weeks).

In Pennsylvania, you may still legally abort a baby at the same age Willow was born; all the way up to 24 weeks, 6 days into pregnancy.

It's time to END LATE-TERM ABORTION.
