

As always, we want to keep you, Pastors and church leaders, informed about what is happening in Harrisburg and across Pennsylvania. There is an important and potentially alarming issue before the state that could impact religious liberty and Pennsylvania families—and the deadline for action is September 21.

The Pennsylvania Department of Health is proposing more than 500 pages of new regulations that would expand government authority over health and family decisions.

These proposed regulations raise serious concerns about privacy, parental rights, religious liberty, and life:

- Pregnancy centers could be required to report certain client information to the government, allowing government officials to contact patients about abortions, euphemistically called “reproductive health services”.
- The proposed regulations replace terms like “pregnant woman” and “mother of a newborn” with “pregnant or postpartum individual” in state health codes, rejecting the biological (and Biblical) truth about identity.
- Parental Rights could be violated as new regulations allow DOH officials to discuss their health without parental consent and enter your home without a warrant.
- The Department is also doxxing Christian Schools by releasing their vaccine percentages to the public.

Please consider sharing this action alert with your congregation and encourage them to submit a public comment before September 21.

And as we take action to protect life, there is another opportunity to publicly stand for the truth that every human life is made in the image of God.

In just four days, Christians from across Pennsylvania will gather in Harrisburg to stand for life. We want to see you and your congregation there!

The Pennsylvania March for Life is THIS MONDAY, September 21. Worship begins at 10 am, the rally is at 11, and the March begins at noon.

As pastors, you have an important opportunity to remind your congregation of the truth that every human life is made in the image of God. This is a profoundly important theological truth for this moment in our culture.

Our commitment to recognizing God as the source of human value – and protecting life – must be lived out both within the walls of our churches and outside in the public square. The March for Life gives Christ followers an opportunity to stand together and publicly affirm the dignity of every human life.

Here is what is happening Monday:

- 10:00 AM — Pre-Rally Praise & Worship
- 11:00 AM — Rally
- 12:00 PM — Pennsylvania March for Life
- 1:00 PM – Pro-Life Pastors Luncheon

Former U.S. Senator Rick Santorum will join pastors, doctors, legislators, and other passionate pro-life leaders to publicly declare the intrinsic value of human life.

Please encourage your congregation to attend!

Thank you for faithfully equipping your congregation to stand for truth and for life.

We'll see you in Harrisburg on Monday!

For Life,

P.S. We have just one Sunday left before the PA March for Life and the deadline to submit public comments opposing Shapiro's harmful new proposed regulations. This Sunday, will you tell your congregation to make their voices heard? Visit pafamily.org/march for March for Life resources including bulletin inserts, and use pafamily.org/regulations to encourage your congregation to submit a public comment.

P.P.S. Consider showing the video below to your congregation!
